

Book Club Meeting Kit

PAGE ONE: A flexible host plan for a small fiction-reading group.

BOOK AND AUTHOR

MEETING DATE / TIME

PLACE OR MEETING LINK

SPOILERS ALLOWED THROUGH CHAPTER / PAGE

A 60-minute plan

0-5 min	Arrive and set a spoiler boundary Agree how far the group will discuss. Anyone may pass on a question.
5-15 min	A first-response round Give each person a brief turn: one reaction and one detail they want to revisit.
15-40 min	Choose three questions Use page two as a menu. Follow interesting differences rather than finishing every prompt.
40-50 min	Return to the text Compare one scene or chapter. Note page or chapter references; editions may differ.
50-60 min	Close and agree the next step Share one changed thought. Decide the next book, host and meeting details together.

A thought to return to

NEXT BOOK / NEXT STEP

NEXT HOST / MEETING DETAILS

Free for your own book club. Print at 100% / actual size.

Scan to reopen this free kit and its optional notebook link.

Gleb Zaitsev Studio | birds.tastyplay.store

Optional notebook: Raven Books journal on Bonanza (sold separately).

Discussion & listening

PAGE TWO: Choose a few prompts. These are for fiction; passing is always fine.

BOOK / MEETING

01 Where did your first impression of a character change? What caused the shift?

02 Which small detail kept returning? What did it add beyond the main events?

03 Choose a difficult decision. What other choice was possible, and what might it cost?

04 What did the setting make possible or difficult for the people in this story?

05 What is left unexplained? Offer two interpretations before choosing one.

06 Whose point of view would change the story most? Describe one scene from that angle.

07 After the ending, which early scene would you read differently? Point to a detail.

08 Which view from another reader helped you notice something you had missed?

