

Book club question cards

Six prompts for readers at different chapters

Our agreed stopping point: _____

Stay within that section. Anyone can pass or ask for a pause.

Readers who know what happens next can listen without hinting or confirming.

1 The opening

What did you think the story was inviting you to pay attention to at the start?

2 A place

Choose a place already described. What would you notice first if you stood there?

3 An object

What small object would you put on the table while discussing this section, and why?

4 A decision

Which choice so far would you ask a character to explain?

5 The writing

Where did the writing make you slow down? Describe the effect without reading a long passage aloud.

6 An open question

What is one question the agreed section leaves unanswered?

Print at actual size or fit to paper. Cut on the dotted lines, or read from the sheet.

Host plan and full article: glebzaitsevstudionotes.blogspot.com

Original prompts and layout prepared with AI assistance. No signup or purchase required.

These cards are a separate free resource, not pages preprinted in a physical notebook.